Help Us Save Gillian McCarthy

Gillian McCarthy is a former UK biochemist and internationally respected expert on horse nutrition with several books published on the subject. She also suffers from very severe MCS and has been diagnosed as a "universal reactor". As you read these words Gillian is slowly dying of neglect, alone, in a tumbledown shack in the middle of an organic field in Wincanton, England, with no mains electricity and, much of the time, no running water. She is also so ill she is virtually unable to eat.

If you haven't already done so please visit our news/campaign page on Gillian at: www.mcs-international.org/news and read her story there. Watch her TV news video coverage there too and see her scandalous living conditions for yourself.

Then please write at least one email and/or letter of support for Gillian to one of the officials in the prioritised list there. If you could also send Gillian a copy of anything you write on her behalf (and any replies you receive) to her email address with us at uk.eng.somerset@mcs-international.org that would be just ideal. Thank you.

Towards a toxin free future...
