

British Red Cross
27th September 2007

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you in desperation in the hope that you can help in some way to alleviate the terrible suffering presently being endured by former biochemist and severe Multiple Chemical Sensitivity (MCS) sufferer Gillian McCarthy. For full background details please see our news page on Gillian at:

<http://www.mcs-international.org/news.html>

And particularly the Westcountry Live TV news coverage of her at:

http://www.mcs-international.org/gillian_mccarthy_tv_interview.html

Please, is there anything you can do to help save the nightmarish life of this bureaucratic torture victim.

Best wishes.

Towards a toxin free future...

Gordon D McHendry
Founder & Campaign Coordinator
www.mcs-international.org

Bringing the hidden dangers of modern synthetic chemicals out into the Light worldwide

16:38 28/09/2007

Many thanks for your enquiry and interest in the British Red Cross.

I regret that due to the high level of interest in the charitable work of the Red Cross we are unable to respond to information requests which fall outside our area of expertise.

The British Red Cross helps people in crisis, whoever and wherever they are. We are part of a global voluntary network, responding to conflicts, natural disasters and individual emergencies.

We enable vulnerable people in the UK and abroad to prepare for and withstand emergencies in their own communities. And when the crisis is over, we help them to recover and move on with their lives.

For further information about our work please visit our website: redcross.org.uk

Many thanks,
Information Resources
British Red Cross
www.redcross.org.uk

British Red Cross
28th September 2007

Hello,

"The British Red Cross helps people in crisis". Your own words.

Gillian's situation meets the definition of "crisis" many times over. So, why is the British Red Cross simply dismissing her suffering with what appears to be a standard computer generated response? Are you telling me that the British Red Cross is prepared to stand idly by and watch Gillian McCarthy slowly die a very unpleasant and lonely death at some point in this coming winter?

Can I please have a clear and reasoned response from a named human being of authority within your organisation with regard to the dismissive stance you appear to be taking with the life of Gillian McCarthy?

Towards a toxin free future...

Gordon D McHendry
Founder & Campaign Coordinator
www.mcs-international.org

Bringing the hidden dangers of modern synthetic chemicals out into the Light worldwide.

From: "Information Information" <Information@redcross.org.uk>
To: "Gordon D McHendry" <founder@mcs-international.org>
Subject: Re: The torture of Gillian McCarthy

Dear Gordon D McHendry

Many thanks for your email.

We take complaints seriously and are sorry that you feel as you do.

Your email has been forwarded to the relevant staff for their attention. You will receive a response to the issues you raise directly.

I hope the response you will receive addresses your concerns. Your support means a lot to us. Without your help we cannot continue to help people in crisis at home and abroad.

Many thanks,
Information Resources
British Red Cross
www.redcross.org.uk

Date: Thu, 4 Oct 2007 10:24:00 +0100
From: Information@redcross.org.uk
Subject: Re: The torture of Gillian McCarthy
To: "McHendry, Gordon D" <founder@mcs-international.org>

Dear Mr McHendry,

I am sorry that you were unhappy with our reply to you your recent enquiry.

Your complaint has been forwarded to the relevant department who will contact you directly.

Many thanks,
Information Resources
British Red Cross
www.redcross.org.uk

October 5th 2007: Awaiting British Red Cross response...

This PDF file is provided here as a public service under a banner of "Fair Use" by:

www.mcs-international.org

Bringing the hidden dangers of modern synthetic chemicals out into the Light worldwide.

Contact: webmaster@mcs-international.org
